GENERAL SCOTT RETURNS

Funston Works Out Many Details of Plan of Re-organizing Border Patrol

RECEIVE AEROPLANE GUNS

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Both the state department and General Carranza are awaiting detailed reports of the recent El Paso military conference before seeking an agreement as to the Mexican border situation thru diplomatic conversations.

General Scott, chief of staff, of the army, returned here today, optimistic over the military situation and confident that the meetings between himself and General Funston on the one side and General Obregon, Carranza's war minister, on the other, had created a better understanding between the two governments which might furnish the basis for a formal protocol. The chief of staff was in need of rest, however, and did not see Secretary Baker but the full discussion of his conversations with General Obregon will come later.

War and state department advisers showed no change today in the situation in Mexico or along the border. While press reports have told of several raids of a minor character at various points in the last few days General Funston either has been unable to confirm these stories or has thought them too unimportant to bring to the attention of the war department.

Funston Works Out Details.
San Antonio, Texas, May 15.—Major General Frederick Funston and his chief of staff Major Malvern Hill-Barnum, worked out many details today of the plan of re-organization of the border patrol while reports to General Pershing and from the Big Bend district served to emphasize how incidental the American operations south of the border have become.

General Pershing's troops drew closer together and gave no sign that early resumption of the chase of Francisco Villa was contemplated. Colonel Sibley is driving his little command on cavalry some sixty miles south of Boquillas, but at headquarters there is displayed little hope that he will capture the bandits or rescue Jesse Deemer, carried away there.

The safe-guarding of the Southern Pacific railway from here to El Paso was decided upon today and as quickly as possible troops will be sent to every bridge along the line. In the event of military operations on a big scale the use of that railroad would be imperative. For a great part of the distance the line parallels the Rio Grande and unless guarded its cutting would be comparatively simple.

Receive Aeroplane Guns.
Columbus, N. M., May 15.—Aeroplane machine guns and bomb dropping devices arrived here today for the use of the first aero squadron. Army aviators here denied any knowledge as to whether the planes to be sent into service in Mexico are to be equipped with the devices. The corps have been working for several weeks with new aeroplanes in an attempt to bring the fleet into condition for field service. However, it was stated tonight that none of the machines are yet ready for Mexican service. Of the attack upon a small body of Americans at Rancho Rubio, 20 miles from Lake Itasca, the field headquarters offered nothing to supplement press reports. However, it was pointed out that the attack indicated that small bands of the bandits are still scattered thru the territory occupied by General Pershing's command. A dead line was drawn around the base arsenal here today. It was said that a suspicion that incendiaries may have been responsible for the recent fires at Fort Bliss, Texas, caused the increased precautions here. Men arriving from the front today reported quiet all along the American line of communication. They also pointed out that neither General Pershing nor his officers feel any doubt as to the ability of the command to protect itself in any eventuality.

TWO FEET OF SNOW IN BLACK HILLS

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 15.—Snow to a depth of two feet fell today in parts of the Black Hills of South Dakota, and to a depth of ten inches on the Cheyenne Indian reservation in the central part of the state. Heavy rain and snow fell in the entire eastern half of the state but in Sioux Falls, Watertown and Aberdeen the snow flakes melted immediately. High winds tonight and falling temperature recorded at 30 at 11 o'clock promise wintry weather tomorrow.

DEMAND FOR TICKETS IS UNPRECEDENTED

FORTY THOUSAND APPLY FOR AD-MISSION TO G. O. P. CONVENTION

Requests Come From Every State and From All Classes and Some Are Received From London, England; Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Cuba.

Chicago, May 15.—Officials of the Republican national convention which meets here June 7, declared today that the demand for tickets to the gathering is unprecedented. Seats have been provided for 12,400 persons in the convention hall and altho the convention is three weeks away 40,000 applications have been received for tickets of admission. Requests for tickets have come from every state and from all classes.

Several applications were received from persons in London, England, and a number have been received from Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Cuba.

Following a long established custom visitors to the convention from out of town will have to look to the national committeeman from their home state for admission tickets.

The 12,400 tickets will be distributed under the following arrangement: Delegates, 991; guest tickets, one to each delegate, 991; alternates, 991; press, 650; Chicago's share as convention city, 2,210; ten members sub-committee on arrangements of the national Republican committee, 200 each—2,000; fifty-three members national Republican committee, 15 to 200 each—4,367; presidential candidates and other distinguished guests, 290.

Of the 12,400 seats, 9,400 will be on the main floor and 3,000 in the balcony and special mezzines. The temporary chairman and other officers of the convention and their assistants and members of the Republican national committee will occupy seats on the speakers' platform at the south end of the Coliseum. Back of the speakers' platform will be 2,000 seats for distinguished guests. On either side of the speakers' platform will be the 558 seats for working newspapermen. The delegates will occupy the space directly in front of the speakers' stand and back of them will be the alternates. The rest of the space on the main floor will be reserved for visitors.

Sergeant-at-Arms William F. Stone of the national committee has named the following chaplains for the convention:

Wednesday, June 7—Rev. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Chicago.

Thursday, June 8—Right Rev. Francis C. Kelley, president of the Catholic church extension society, Chicago.

Friday, June 9—Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal church, Chicago.

Saturday, June 10—Dr. Gerson B. Levi, Congregation B'nai Shalom, Temple Israel, Chicago.

Monday, June 12—Rev. William O. Waters, rector Grace Episcopal church, Chicago.

The committee has had tickets printed for six days' sessions.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER STAGE AT QUINCY REACHES NINETEEN FEET

Train Service Over K Line in Missouri Is Abandoned—Farmers Move to High Land, Fearing the Levees Will Break.

Quincy, Ill., May 15.—With the river stage at 19 feet tonight, the highest since 1903, all drainage district levees are being patrolled, train service over the K Line of the Burlington in Missouri is abandoned and farmers are moving to high land, fearing levees will break.

It is predicted that the crest will be reached at 19.6 feet.

A drainage engineer and twenty men with hundreds of bags of sand left here tonight for Mark Station, six miles from Quincy, in Missouri. The levee there protects the South Fabulous district from the South Fabulous river which is backing up, owing to the high Mississippi waters.

A break in the levee built to stand a twenty four foot stage would endanger the Chicago-Kansas City line of the Burlington railroad. Already the tracks between Mark and Quincy are under two feet of water. Trains are proceeding slowly. Tonight the commissioners are patrolling the Indian Grove levees north of Quincy on the Illinois side. Portions of the levee are said to be weakening but late tonight all were still intact. Several calls came to the city during the day for help and families and stock were moved by motor boats and barges.

The Burlington operated its last train out of this city to Burlington, Iowa, on the Missouri K Line this afternoon. Trains after midnight will be held as the water is now more than two feet deep.

Scores of passengers are waiting in the Quincy station. From Keokuk to Quincy the tracks are entirely covered. A train came in late this evening having been seven and a half hours on the way, a usual hour and one half run.

War News Summarized

Little heavy fighting is in progress in any of the various war theatres. The French in the Meuse hills, to the east of Verdun, in a surprise attack have cleared the Germans from trenches over a front of about two hundred yards and also have put down in Champagne several German attacks. Bombardments alone are taking place around Verdun.

Along the British line in France bombardments and sapping operations are being carried on at various points. East of Loos, the Germans succeeded in gaining a footing in British trenches but were able to hold them only a few minutes under a counter attack.

The Italians in the Monte Adamello zone have succeeded in occupying positions in the sector between Crozzon di Fargorla and Crozzon di Lares which are of great strategic value in their movement against Trent. The Italians also have made further progress against the Austrians on Mount Sperone.

Attacks by the Austrians to the north of Lenumo were repulsed by the Italians. Elsewhere along this front there have been only artillery engagements.

Little fighting of moment is going on between the Teutonic allies and the Russians in Russian territory, except artillery duels.

In the Caucasus region, the Russians are continuing their advance against the Turks according to Pograd. In the operation toward Mosul, having Bagdad as its objective, the Turks are declared to have retreated precipitately before the Russians, abandoning war material. The Russians are pressing on in pursuit.

The difficulties between Greece and the entente powers have been amicably settled, according to an announcement of the British foreign office. This announcement possibly means that Greece has acquiesced in the request of the entente allies for permission for Serbian troops to cross Greece to Saloniki from the island of Corfu.

The American government will soon take up again with Great Britain the questions of the detention of mails and of Great Britain's blockade orders-in-council.

The British Prime Minister who has been in conference with the Ulsterites at Belfast, it is reported from that city received little encouragement in his endeavors to bring the Ulsterites and Nationalists to an agreement with respect to the government in Ireland. The question of the general disarmament of unauthorized forces, it is further reported, did not meet with the approval of the Ulsterites.

UPHOLDS EMERGENCY TAX LAW.

Chicago, May 15.—The emergency tax law of 1914 was held to be constitutional in a decision rendered today in a suit brought by three banks testing its validity. The decision was rendered by Federal Judge Eiger. The bank sued the collector of internal revenue for recovery of $27,114 collected from them as a part of their taxes under the law.

LARGE FLEET LEAVES KIEL

London, May 16.—A despatch to the daily mail from Copenhagen says that a large German fleet which has left Kiel for Riga includes the new Battleship Hindenburg and several other battleships of the larger type.

MILITIA HELPS HOLD CROWD

AKRON, O., May 15.—At least ten persons were killed and nearly a score injured early this evening, when the old Beacon Journal building occupied by the Crystal Restaurant collapsed as a result of a blast of dynamite in an adjoining excavation.

Thousands Pack Streets.
Eight identified and two unidentified bodies have been recovered, and two persons, now missing are thought to be in the ruins. Battery B, Ohio National Guard field artillery was called out to aid the police in retreating a crowd of more than 10,000 persons who packed the streets at Main and Quarry, where the accident occurred.

A tremendous roaring, echoing the screams of dying people brought thousands to the disaster scene in the heart of Akron's business district. Instantly the city, rallying under the shock, plunged to the work of rescue.

A great pile of ruins, broken timber, twisted steel and tons of brick and mortar, buried the victims, who at moment before were dining in the restaurant. Eight bodies were soon taken out of the wreckage after firemen, police and volunteer rescuers had worked frantically digging and chopping thru the debris.

Nineteen more, many of them fatally injured, were extricated and sent to the City and People's hospitals, only two or three of those known to have been in the restaurant succeeded in escaping before the crash.

Three Escape from Kitchen.
George Zerris, who with his brother, Augustus Zerris owned the restaurant, escaped from the kitchen, together with a cook and two dishwashers, but all were injured by falling bricks.

Blasts of dynamite, set off in an excavation for a new building directly north of the restaurant, unsettled the foundation. The restaurant was a one story structure with a two story false front, the latter toppling.

CONFERENCE IS DISAPPOINTING

Belfast, May 15.—Stubborn disinclination to accept anything in the way of a government which might imply the future subjection of Ulster to home rule was evident today on the occasion of Premier Asquith's visit to Belfast, which lasted only a few hours. So far as can be learned, the premier's conference with a large body of representative Ulstermen was disappointing.

PLACE ALLEGED LEADER OF REVOLT ON TRIAL

CHARGE SIR ROGER CASEMENT AND
D. J. BAILEY WITH HIGH TREASON

Casement Is Center of All Eyes During Day—Testimony Develops Few Thrills—Casement Attorneys Make Little Attempt at Cross Examination.

London, May 15.—The writing of a new chapter of the history of the Sinn Fein rebellion was begun today, when Sir Roger Casement, knighted in 1911 for services to the British government, and Daniel Julien Bailey, an Irish private soldier, one of his companions on the ill-fated submarine trip from Germany to Ireland, were placed in the dock of the Bow street police court for preliminary examination on the charge of high treason.

While considerable testimony introduced by the crown tended to incriminate Bailey, the main attack of the prosecution was directed against Casement in an endeavor to enmesh him in a net of evidence which would establish without question the leading part it is claimed he played in the conspiracy whose ramifications extended even to America.

Casement himself was the center of all eyes during the day. It was evident that no ordinary prisoner was before the bar for, despite the unkept condition of his clothing, he made a striking figure, with neatly trimmed beard and hair brushed well back from a high forehead, underneath which were the deep set eyes of the dreamer.

Casement busied himself taking notes, indicating that he intended to have a hand in the presentation of his defense. He was also self-possessed and as the case wore on began to assume considerable assurance.

The testimony developed few thrills, the prosecution devoting its attention to showing how Casement carried on the alleged recruiting for his Irish brigade in German prison camps. The most dramatic part of the whole proceeding was the address of the attorney general, Sir Frederick E. Smith, who outlined Sir Roger Casement's former service to his country, and told of the honor bestowed upon the prisoner by his king and then shifted abruptly to the details of the conspiracy hatched in Germany. It was during his address that the attorney general introduced a letter written by Casement thanking Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary of foreign affairs, for the knighthood conferred upon him in recognition of his Putnam services.

In his letter Casement said: "I am indeed grateful to you for this singular assurance of your personal interest. I am very deeply sensible of the honor done me by his majesty, and would beg that my humble duty may be presented to his majesty when you can do me the honor of conveying to him my deep appreciation of the honor that he has been so generously pleased to confer upon me."

The attorney general introduced another striking feature, when he paused in his speech to produce in court the flag which it is asserted Casement and his companions brought from Germany to Ireland. This was the emblem of revolt—a green flag with a yellow castle upon it and under the castle the motto: "Urbs antiqua fuit studiisque aspernata belli."

Casement's attorneys made little attempt at cross examination today, but several times questioned the witnesses as to why Casement wished them to join the Irish brigade. The point of the questions seemed to be to show that the freedom of Ireland was the only thing involved and that the brigade was not to attempt to assist Germany.

Further testimony will be introduced by the crown tomorrow.

TROOPER IS FOUND HALF DEAD FROM THIRST AND EXHAUSTION

MARATHON, Texas, May 15.—F. Bundanis, the lost trooper of Company A, Fourteenth cavalry, was found today by Champion Wood, a mining man of Boquillas, wandering aimlessly and half dead from thirst and exhaustion in the woods, 35 miles north of Boquillas. Wood, who was enroute to this city, took him in his automobile and turned him over upon his arrival to Captain William M. Smart of the hospital corps here.

Bundanis was one of the troopers garrisoning Glenn Springs. When found he was demented and his clothes tattered and torn. Captain Smart said he will be all right in a few days.

RURAL CREDITS BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

Similar Measure Has Already Been Passed By the Senate

MANY DIFFERENCES

Democrats Well Pleased With Prospect of Cleaning Up
Legislative Program

TO BRING SHIPPING BILL UP

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Glass rural credits bill providing for a federal farm loan board and a system of twelve land banks passed the house late today by a vote of 295 to 10. A similar measure already has passed the senate and the differences probably will be worked out soon in conference.

Encounters Little Opposition.

Little opposition was encountered by the bill, which was piloted thru the house by Representative Glass of Virginia and Representative Phelan of Massachusetts. Under its terms, the land banks would lend money to farmers at not more than six per cent interest, thru local associations, mortgages running from five to thirty-six years. The mortgages would be used by the banks as the basis for farm loan bonds. There are many differences between the senate and house bills to be adjusted. The senate measure would capitalize each farm loan bank at $500,000, the house's at $750,000. The senate would authorize loans with unlimited liability, the house would not. The senate would limit loans on lands to 50 per cent with no recognition of improvements; the house proposes to grant 60 per cent on land values and 20 per cent on value of permanent insurable improvements.

The senate proposes that no loan shall be made if the three members of the local loan committee are not unanimous in their appraisal; the house would require a majority report of the committee. The senate makes the minimum loan $200; the house of $100. The senate would charge borrowers 10 per cent interest on all defaulted payments; the house would charge only contract rates. The senate would require local associations to make good all defaults within thirty days after notice from a land bank, the house would provide a special reserve to protect associations.

The senate bill requires advance payments on the principal in the sums of $100 or multiples and the house $25 or multiples.

The senate makes the actual earnings of the land the principal factor and the house makes the agricultural value the principal basis of appraisal.

Under the senate bill local associations would be required to hold 25 per cent of net earnings as reserves and might refuse to declare any dividends to borrowers, while the house would require all net earnings to be paid to borrowers as dividends.

To Bring Shipping Bill Up Today

With the passage of the rural credits bill, Democratic house leaders prepared to bring the administration shipping bill up for hearing tomorrow. A rule designed to limit general debate on the measure to five hours and to provide for a final vote on it Friday evening, will be presented.

Chairman Alexander of the merchant marine committee expressed confidence tonight that the bill would pass.

Democratic members were well pleased tonight over the prospect of cleaning up the legislative program before the convention as previously planned. It is probable that the army and fortifications measures and some minor bills will be completed before the convention and the Democrats will rest on that record until the members return from Chicago and St. Louis.

Shall Jacksonville Progress?

The bond issue election which has been occupying large place in public discussion for the last ten days, will occur today. The people will decide whether or not they favor the issuance of bonds for the purpose of developing the water and light departments, increasing the equipment of the fire department and so shaping the city's finances that Jacksonville can once more get on a business basis.

The borrowing of money and the expenditure of money sometimes mean economy in the end, and after a careful investigation of all the facts, the Journal believes that is the case in the present instance. The important thing today is that there should be a large expression of the views and wishes of the people and that the vote cast represent the best judgment of the people after an unprejudiced consideration of all the facts.

Personal likes and dislikes, prejudices one way or another, should not be a controlling influence in deter-

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

PECK'S BAD BOY.

George Peck is dead; and o'er his head, they'll place a slab of granite, on which I'd write, "Old friend, good night! You filled with glee this planet. How oft with joy your wicked boy in by-gone days has filled me! How oft I blessed that imp possessed, while laughter nearly killed me! Old Comrade Peck, you were on deck, in after years as speaker did sober deeds, wrote heavy screeds, for lofty fame a seeker. You governed well, so people tell, the province of Wisconsin; as magistrate you hit a gait that doubtless was entwined." Due no one cries, "How nobly wise was Peck, the statesman, thinker; on statesmanship he had a grip, he surely was a clunker." But by your bier we shed a tear, and draw our sackcloth closer, and say, "Good night! Old friend, sleep tight with Bad Boy and the Grocer!"

While the newspapers have been filled with reports and rumors regarding peace and alleged efforts by this Government to bring about a settlement of the terrible European conflict, Secretary Lansing is authority for the statement that these are all without foundation. Mr. Lansing says there has been no appeal from Pope Benedict to President Wilson, no overture from the British Ambassador, and no effort on the part of J. Pierpont Morgan, who visited Washington on his yacht this week, to bring about peace negotiations. Mr. Lansing adds, somewhat significantly, "The source of all this false information is traceable to a certain propaganda about which I am not in ignorance." Just what he meant by this statement he would not explain but told the newspapermen that those of their readers who had intelligence would experience no difficulty in understanding to what he referred. It is learned that information from the diplomatic representatives of the United States in all the capitals of the belligerents agrees that at present all peace discussion is "unthinkable." It is perfectly evident that Secretary Lansing regards the present prospects of peace as anything but encouraging.

mining the vote of any man or woman today. This is an important day for the city and if the bonds are authorized it means that Jacksonville will progress. If the bonds are not authorized, it means that the commissioners must struggle along in the endeavor to do business and maintain its credit.

So it is in truth an important day for Jacksonville, and when the polls close this afternoon at 5 o'clock it certainly should not be recorded that only a comparatively small number of the 9,500 persons who are entitled to vote have expressed their views. Men and women have the right to vote upon this question of public policy and there should be a full expression.

The principal opposition to the bonds has been fostered by the Jacksonville Railway & Light company, partially because the company fears that if the local light plant is largely developed that an effort may be made later to have the plant become a competitor, and for the further reason that the company cherishes the hope that if the city plant is not further developed that eventually the Light Company can secure the contract for furnishing the power for pumping the city wells and the current for city street lights.

Other opposition has developed from those who object to the increased taxes which will result, but this number has been greatly lessened during recent days as it has been made clear how small the annual tax will be for the average property owner. Other opposition has come from persons who do not consider the present city officials competent and safe business men. And there are a few others who impugn the motives of the officials.

The citizen who takes the unprejudiced view will find after considering all the facts, that Jacksonville is not likely to have a more honest and sane set of officials. He will decide that if bonds are ever to be voted for water and light improvement that today is the accepted time. He will decide that the progress of the city is absolutely dependent upon the bond issue. If there is any personal reason for opposition to the bonds, this prejudice will be set aside and the voter will declare in favor of the bonds in order to accomplish the larger good—and make it possible for something to be doing municipally in Jacksonville.

There was recently in New Orleans a great convention composed of manufacturers from all over the south. It was a great time and thousands of prominent men were there. Wm. J. Bryan was to make the closing address but when he read President Wilson's ultimatum to Germany he sent word that he couldn't attend the convention as he had agreed as he had to hasten to Washington to prevent his country from getting into war with Germany.

No Peace Plan.

While the newspapers have been filled with reports and rumors regarding peace and alleged efforts by this Government to bring about a settlement of the terrible European conflict, Secretary Lansing is authority for the statement that these are all without foundation. Mr. Lansing says there has been no appeal from Pope Benedict to President Wilson, no overture from the British Ambassador, and no effort on the part of J. Pierpont Morgan, who visited Washington on his yacht this week, to bring about peace negotiations. Mr. Lansing adds, somewhat significantly, "The source of all this false information is traceable to a certain propaganda about which I am not in ignorance." Just what he meant by this statement he would not explain but told the newspapermen that those of their readers who had intelligence would experience no difficulty in understanding to what he referred. It is learned that information from the diplomatic representatives of the United States in all the capitals of the belligerents agrees that at present all peace discussion is "unthinkable." It is perfectly evident that Secretary Lansing regards the present prospects of peace as anything but encouraging.

N. R. JERALD DEAD IN SPRINGFIELD FROM APOPLEXY

Former Jacksonville Resident Died Very Suddenly—Was Long Connected With Courier Here.

Nathan R. Jerald, a former resident of Jacksonville was found dead in bed at his residence, 1334 Holmes avenue, Springfield, Sunday morning at 5 o'clock. Mr. Jerald had been in poor health for several months and apoplexy is thought to have been the cause of death.

Deceased was born in Hingham, Mass., in 1850. He came to Illinois when a young man and for many years was a resident of this city. He was married here in 1872 to Miss Hester Pickett. When he first came to Jacksonville Mr. Jerald entered the clothing business and for fifteen years operated a store here. When he retired from that business he entered the employ of the Jacksonville Courier as advertising manager. He was associated with the paper for fifteen years. When he left the Courier he went to Peoria where he was in the advertising department of several Peoria papers.

Sixteen years ago he removed to Springfield where he became associated with the State Register as advertising manager. When he left that paper he retired from advertising end of newspaper work. A few years later in company with a number of other men he purchased the Springfield News. When the late J. McCann Davis bought the News Mr. Jerald became associated with the W. J. Horn System Advertising company, later the Posting Sign System. He was a member of the board of directors of the company and until six weeks ago when failing health compelled him to give up his work.

During his residence in Jacksonville Mr. Jerald was prominently identified with the life of the city. For several years he served the city as a member of the board of education. He was one of the early members of the Delaware Tribe No. 78, Improved Order of Red Men, but transferred his membership to Springfield. He also joined the Knights of Pythias in this city, being a member of Jacksonville lodge No. 152 and a member of the Old Fellows. All of his lodge affiliations were in Springfield.

Mr. Jerald was a man of gentle nature. His acquaintance was a wide one and he made many friends who will learn of his death with regret. His widow and two sons survive, Eugene Jerald of Springfield, and Dr. Clarence Jerald of East St. Louis.

Funeral services will be held from the residence this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in charge of the Rev. T. N. Ewing, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church.

Doyle and Frank Doyle with whom his father was living on the home place, and a daughter, Mrs. Johnson, living in the Wrights vicinity.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Baptist church at Wrights at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.—Roodhouse Record.

Men and women can both vote in the bond election today. Polls open at 7 and close at 5 o'clock. A vote for the bonds is a vote for a greater Jacksonville.

WILL BE CANDIDATE

It was stated yesterday that J. P. Lippincott yielded to the wishes of many of his friends had decided to become a candidate for president of the Jacksonville school board. Mr. Lippincott's petition will be filed today. It is understood that he has no personal ambition about the matter but looks upon it as a duty of citizenship to be willing to take part in school management if his services are desired. Mr. Lippincott has been studying school law and school problems for a great many years and is well fitted for the board presidency.

The Social Pirates

It will be the sensational novelty of the year, something entirely new and different.

Plots by George Bronson Howard.
Novelization by Hugh C. Weir.

The two central characters in "The Social Pirates" are Mona and Mary, two very attractive young women who had become embittered by the experience of some of their close friends against mankind generally but particularly against a class of notorious men who make it their business to profit by the weakness of the opposite sex by blackmail and other despicable methods. In fact so embittered have the two girls become that they register a solemn oath to devote their lives to a campaign of retribution against this class.

In Episode No. 1 "The Little Monte Carlo"

Mona and Mary save a beautiful young girl from suicide. They learn from her that she has been jilted by a wealthy young man and the two girls immediately commence a campaign in which after inducing him to visit a supposed gambling house where he pays a large sum to make good the fictitious losses of Mona, the man is led finally to right the wrong he has done the girl cast off by the clever ruse of a telegram sent in his father's name by Mary commanding him to marry. It is a sensational, thrilling and romantic episode that will keep you enthralled from start to finish and each succeeding episode is just as good or better.

Mrs. W. H. Hinrichsen entertained members of the Monday Conversation club for the annual outing and last meeting of the year Monday at her home in Alexander. There were present sixteen active members of the society, Mrs. F. C. Coe, an associate member and several guests, among whom were Mrs. Fred G. Buße of Peoria, Miss Lois Coultas and Mrs. C. H. Smith, Jacksonville; Mrs. Frank E. Drury, Mrs. C. M. Strawn, Mrs. J. W. Relf and Mrs. Henry Strawn of Alexander and vicinity. The guests came from Jacksonville on the early Wabash train and the forenoon hours were spent in a pleasant social manner. At noon a delicious dinner was served and in the afternoon Mrs. F. H. Rowe took charge of the program, presenting in interesting manner a review of the book, "Abroad at Home." A novel feature was the contribution of Mrs. W. S. Jones, formerly a member and now living in California. Mrs. Jones sent post cards to each member. On these were California scenes and the discussion of these made a pleasing addition to the program.

It has been the custom of the club for several years to go to the home of Mrs. Hinrichsen for the annual outing. The fact that the rain of Sunday night had devastated the places in bloom at this time and very beautiful, and made it impossible to hold the meeting out of doors, was a source of regret, the day as a whole was a very pleasant one.

DR. DYSON HOPEFUL U. S. WILL ALLOW STATE $2,000,000 CLAIMS

State Veterinarian Returns From Washington—Feels Congress Will Eventually Reimburse Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., May 15.—Dr. O. E. Dyson, state veterinarian, returned to Springfield from Washington today hopeful that a favorable report would be made by the claims committee of the house of representatives on Illinois' claim of $2,000,000 for foot and mouth disease losses.

"The bill of Illinois against the national government, represents half the sum given to farmer owners of some 79,000 head of stock slaughtered in the war on foot and mouth disease," said Dr. Dyson. "Illinois paid farmers $2,000,000 and the national government a like sum. By assuming half the burden the government recognizes its liability. Governor Dunne and I appeared before the committee in Washington Saturday. The governor told the government was to be expected to should all the expense of this fight against a foreign disease just as it would be expected to fight a foreign army invading the United States. If Illinois hadn't fought foot and mouth disease other states would have suffered in like proportion and all the states should bear the expense."

"Eventually I feel sure congress will reimburse Illinois for the money paid farmers for stock slaughtered."

STATE TO PROSECUTE OWNERS OF AUTOS WITHOUT LICENSE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—Investigators of the state automobile department at the direction of Secretary of State L. G. Stevenson are notifying automobile owners operating their cars with 1915 license plates that they will be prosecuted if they have not made application for 1916 licenses before June 15.

"In the first four months of this year approximately 170,000 registrations have been made," said Secretary Stevenson today.

"This is five-sixths the number registered during all of last year. I expect an increase of 40,000 or 50,000 automobile licenses this year, due chiefly to the improved condition of Illinois roads and the prosperous condition of the country."

At present over 2,500 sets of license plates are being shipped by the automobile department each day, and because most of the force in the department has been occupied with this work no effort has been made to enforce the law.

PORTER STOPS SALE OF TICKETS TO PROGRESSIVE CONVENTION

CHICAGO, May 15.—George R. Porter, chairman of the local committee on arrangements of the Progressive national convention to be held in the Auditorium June 7, telegraphed from New York to his aides in Chicago today to stop the sale of visitors' tickets until further notice. The committee planned to sell 500 tickets to visitors and 250 already have been sold. The large demand for tickets may make it necessary to re-arrange the seating plans for the convention.

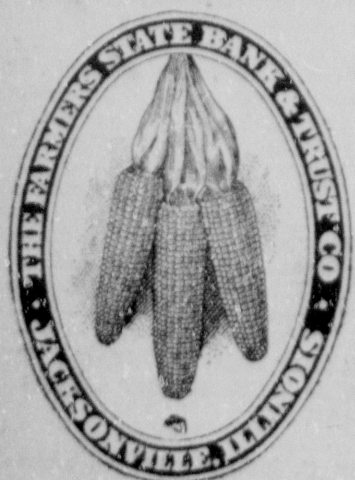

The Auditorium will seat 4,000 persons and there are 1,791 delegates and alternates to be provided for on the main floor. This leaves but 2,209 seats for visitors and more than 10,000 applications for tickets already have been received.

PHYSICIANS, NURSES AND PATIENTS TESTIFY IN FAVOR OF WINE OF CARDUI

Number of Depositions Testifying to Merits of Medicine are Read into Record.

Chicago, May 15.—Medical experts, obstetricians, trained nurses, physicians and patients gave testimony favorable to Wine of Cardui today in the libel suit against the American Medical association.

Dr. Francis E. Thornton, of Chicago, said that in thousands of confinement cases he had used viburnum prunifolium, one of the ingredients of Wine of Cardui.

"Would a dose of this medicine containing 48 drops of alcohol, have any harmful effect if given in medicinal doses?" he was asked.

"No."

"Would it create the alcohol habit?"

"No."

A number of depositions testifying to the merits of Wine of Cardui were read into the records. Mrs. G. W. Saturday, a trained nurse, of Savannah, Ga., deposed that she had given it to patients, that it was used by herself and her mother, and that she had never heard of any one becoming addicted to its use. She and her mother, she deposed, gained relief and strength from it.

Other depositions by Mrs. Ira Spain, Carbondale, Ill.; Mrs. George Watson, Vienna, Ill., and Miss Florence Rogers, Jacksonville, Fla., also were read.

BRANDEIS' NOMINATION MAY BE FOUGHT OUT IN THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 15.—It now appears practically certain that the issue over the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court of the United States is to be fought out in the senate without recommendation from the judiciary committee which has considered and investigated the case for more than three months.

Altho no authoritative announcement has been made regarding the attitude of the judiciary committee it was reported after a protracted secret session of the committee today that a favorable report on the nomination could not be agreed upon and several Democratic senators who did not wish to agree to such a report, would vote to return the nomination to the senate without recommendations. Members of the committee spoke their minds frankly on the case at today's meeting and a vote might have been taken had it not been for the unavoidable absence of Senators Cummins and Shields.

QUELL OUTBREAK OF AUSTRIAN PRISONERS AT KAPUSKASING

OTTAWA, May 15.—An outbreak among Austrian prisoners of war in the internment camp at Kapuskasing last Friday, was quelled by the military authorities after one of the prisoners was killed, nine seriously wounded, several fatally, and four slightly injured. It was learned here tonight. The revolt is said to have been started by about 300 Austrian prisoners who were removed from the camp at Penarum, where they had refused to work and had turned on their guards. The smoldering unrest culminated Friday into a riot and the guards fired on the prisoners. Rifles and bayonets were used freely, it is said, and the outbreak, in which other prisoners participated was not quelled for several hours. There were no casualties among the soldiers.

MATRIMONIAL

Rider-Hamill.

The following is from the Nashville, Tenn., Banner of May 12:

The marriage last evening of Mrs. Ada T. Hamill to Rev. Arthur W. Rider, D. D., of Los Angeles, Calif., will come as a surprise to their wide circle of friends, who will also be interested to know that it was the culmination of a romance which started when Miss Ada Tuman and Arthur Rider were collegemates together in Jacksonville, Ill.

In 1885 Miss Tuman was married to Dr. H. M. Hamill, one of the pioneers of the Sunday school movement of the country. In 1901 they moved to Nashville, that he might assume the position of superintendent of the teacher training in the Methodist Episcopal church, South, which position he held until his death. Mrs. Hamill became superintendent of the elementary department of the Sunday school in the same denomination, but her labors were by no means confined to this denomination. She was closely identified with the elementary Sunday school work and became a national figure in great demand for platform service in all parts of the United States. She represents the south as a member of the international elementary committee. She is a woman of rare charm, both in the social circle and on the platform. Her attractive personality has won for her a host of friends.

After leaving college Mr. Rider, who remained unmarried, went west and became identified with the missionary activities of his denomination rising to the commanding position of joint secretary of the Pacific district of the American Baptist Home Mission and Foreign Mission societies, with headquarters at Los Angeles. He is a man of strong intelligence and striking individuality. He is possessed of a charming personality and enjoys a pronounced popularity among a wide circle of friends. He represents his church in various capacities and is closely identified with the board which directs its educational work.

Owing to the very frail health of Mrs. Rider's mother, the marriage ceremony was quietly solemnized at the home of Dr. Henry Beach Carr in the presence of her immediate family only.

backward, added a weight of many tons to the falling roof.

The crash came at 6:10 p. m., in the midst of dinner when the restaurant was crowded and when thousands were on the streets during the evening rush.

So sudden did the ceiling cave in and the walls crumbled that those who were not instantly killed were knocked unconscious. Mrs. C. W. Lawson, who escaped strangely from the table where she and her husband and their eight year old daughter Mary were dining together, was the first person rescued.

The first body to be dug from the tangled heap of debris was that of little Mary Lawson, her daughter. Firemen dug her out, revealing a deep gash on her neck, where she probably had been strangled to death by the edge of the table falling on her. A piece of bread that she was eating was still clutched in her hand.

At 9:30 p. m., the search for bodies was given up and the crowd around the wrecked building had diminished so the militia was relieved of duty. Police and city building inspectors began an investigation of the wreck tonight.

SPECIAL FEATURES

Henderson Front Laced Models

These consist of a ventilated back section, made of a soft mesh material which prevents all pressure of heavy boning or bulky seams over the spine, a fault so objectionable in some front laced models.

The ventilated tongue under the front lacing prevents the protruding of flesh or clothing and elastic sections inserted in the skirt "give and take" with every body position, making the corset extremely comfortable.

The better models have a clasp that is flexible at the top, which relieves pressure on the bust.

These special features combined with unsurpassed style, fit and workmanship account to a large degree for their favor with the ladies.

There is a Henderson Front Laced Corset designed for your individual figure and made at a price you want to pay.

We invite your inspection of these latest authoritative models now showing.

We also announce that we have arranged a nice, comfortable fitting room and our corsetiere, Miss Eva Vasconcellos, will be pleased to give you a Henderson Corset designed for individual figures.

Paul D. Wells died at the family home, 1002 South Main street Monday morning at 2:15 o'clock. Death came after an illness of only one week from pneumonia.

The death of Paul Wells came as a great shock to the entire city. He was a young man of much promise, much beloved by countless friends in the community. ## Mansfield.

The venerable Isaac Mansfield, known far and wide as "Uncle Ike," died at his home in Franklin Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock after a stroke of paralysis sustained the Tuesday before. Mr. Mansfield had not been in good health for some time and his constitution soon yielded to the stroke.

Mr. Mansfield was born on Hart's Prairie, Nov. 10th, 1831, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mansfield. He enjoyed the advantages unusual at that early period and always bore a good name. He engaged in the milling business for some time near his birthplace and then moved to Franklin, where he and his brother John carried on a flour mill for a good many years. They were among the first to introduce the roller process but the competition of the great mills of Minnesota and Kansas was too much for them as it was for so many other smaller mills in the state and they had to give up. For some time he had not been engaged in any business.

Dec. 4th, 1851 he was married to Susan Austin who survives him and their married life has ever been pleasant and happy. Mr. Mansfield was the last one of twelve children. He was the father of nine, seven of whom are living. They are Isabel, Charles and Frank at home; Mrs. Lizzie Clayton of East St. Louis; Mrs. Ida Foster of Vinita, Oklahoma; Mrs. W. B. Wright of Arizona; Mrs. George Walker of Portland, Oregon.

George died in early childhood and Oscar of this city died last summer.

He also leaves ten grandchildren, Louise, Clifford and Helen, children of Oscar; Edgar Clayton, George and Marian Walker, Larue Foster, Henry and Susan Walker.

Mr. Mansfield was a sturdy, upright man known by many as a person of integrity and industry. He leaves a good name and one of which his family may be proud. He was a Republican from the day the party was organized and he and his brother John were the wheelhorses of the party in their locality and for a time when it wasn't especially popular, but they always stood firmly for principle no matter whether it was popular or not.

The funeral will be conducted at the family residence Wednesday at one o'clock p. m. and interment will be in Franklin cemetery.

A REMARKABLE MEETING.

The Rev. E. B. Landis of Westminster church is taking a strong hold upon those attending the services there.

Mother's Day his sermon was one of the best possible, even on so fine a subject and won the close attention of his congregation.

At the end of the service he made a change in the ordinary course of exercises, and himself led the congregation in old time gospel hymns, such as his mother used to sing with the children in his childhood's days.

The effect was remarkable. A good part of those present knew the hymns he chose, apparently as they came to mind, and joined in with him. An impression was made that will be left to remain long in the minds and hearts of those present.

SPIDERS AS FACTORY HANDS

Spinning the Delicate Threads For Use in Telescopes.

Spiders are probably the most indispensable workmen in one of the largest English surveying instrument factories. It is their duty to spin the delicate thread which is used for the cross hairs to mark the exact center of the object lens in the surveyor's telescope. Spider web is the only suitable material yet discovered for the cross hairs of surveying instruments. Almost invisible as this fiber is to the naked eye, it is brought up in the powerful lenses of the telescope to the size of a man's thumb, so that all defects, if there happened to be any, would be magnified to such a degree that the web would be useless.

Human hair has been tried, but when magnified it has the apparent dimensions of a rough heven lamp post. Moreover, human hair is transparent, and cross hairs must be opaque. The spiders produce during a two months' spinning season thousands of yards of web, which is wound upon metal frames and stored away until needed.

A spider "at work" dangles in the air by its invisible thread, the upper end being attached to a metal wire frame whirled in the hands of a girl. The girl first places the spider on her hand until the protruding end of the thread has become attached. When the spider attempts to leap to the ground this end is quickly attached to the center of the whirling frame, and as the spider pays out thread this line is wrapped around the frame. Several hundred feet of thread can be removed from a spider at one time.

The spiders are kept in a large room under the supervision of three girls and a forewoman. When not spinning the little workmen are placed in a large wooden cage. Flies are the chief article of diet.

During the winter months the spider colony usually dies, so that an entirely new corps of workmen must be recruited. Not every spider will do—only large, fat fellows that spin a tough round thread are suitable.

Singularly enough, the girls who have charge of the spiders in this English factory are not in the least afraid of them or their bites. On the contrary, they regard them as pets, are able to tell them apart and to call them by nicknames which humorously describe their appearance or their peculiar habits of work.—New York American.

Former Peace and War Cycles. Isalah had an inspired vision of a time when swords should be beaten into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks. By the Amphictyonic council the Greeks sought to mitigate wars between the Greek states, though their efforts did not reach as far as the barbarians, as they called the rest of the world. In the eleventh century A. D. a peace movement called the truce of God spread over western Europe. A peace palace was erected and conferences were held at Liege, and Christendom dreamed the same dream of peace that it afterward dreamed in the first decade of the twentieth century—a dream from which it was rudely awakened by the Crusades.—Christian Herald.

Dikes and Ditches. The word "dike" used in connection with flood damage along the Zuyder Zee is etymologically akin to "ditch," the meaning of which is familiar, and for which it is commonly an interchangeable term. But in the sense now employed it of course means an embankment. Holland is the classic land of such dikes, which date from Roman occupation before the Christian era. In the fen neighborhood both ditches and embankments are found. Miles of the latter near the outlet of the Cambridgeshire Ouse protect many acres of land reclaimed from the sea.—London Mail.

Ireland's Golden Age. There need be no "theory" as to the early culture of Ireland. It is a fact, for example, that the Abbey of Clonmacnoise, near Athlone, was once a center of learning so renowned that scholars repaired thither from the ends of Europe, and the great Charlemagne sent it presents. And in the realms of art "The Book of Kells," a Latin copy of the Gospels, executed at that time, had no rival for delicacy of illumination.—London Standard.

Worse Yet. "My daughter is taking singing lessons, and she keeps up such a terrible yowling that I never go home except to eat and sleep."

"You're in luck. My daughter is taking cooking lessons, and I don't even dare to eat at home."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Explained. "Look here, you promised to have my suit ready two days ago, and it isn't finished yet?"

"Yes, I know; but, you see, you promised to pay for it as soon as it was done, and I thought I'd give you a little more time."—Exchange.

On the Remington and Nowhere Else

Here are two facts about the Remington which every typewriter buyer should know:

1. The Remington Column Selector adds 25 per cent. to the letter writing speed of the typist. This is not a claim or an estimate. It is a definite fact—proved and established by any number of comparative tests.

2. The Column Selector is a Remington feature exclusively. No other machine has it—or anything like it.

Oh, yes, other machines have devices which look like it, with the five keys, etc. It is easy for a salesman, who knows the supreme merit of this Remington feature, to call them "column selector" keys. But there is no other device on any other typewriter which can do what the Remington Column Selector does.

The Remington Column Selector is the only feature on any typewriter which permits instantaneous setting of the carriage at any desired point on the line.

It is the only feature which provides this setting by either forward or backward movement. It is the only feature which provides true "express service" with no stop-to-stop movement in reaching any writing point.

And there are the features which make the 25 per cent. speed gain. Let us show you the real and only Column Selector—on the Model 10 Remington.

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENCE.

Berlin, May.—That a nettle fibre of high value for making textiles can be recovered easily and cheaply by the waterrotting process, that a rich yield of fruit sugar is thereby steeped from the plants, and that the stems make an excellent fodder, is the triple discovery of Prof. Oswald Richter, an Austrian chemist. His came to his discovery after some fifteen years of experimenting with ammonia solutions, only to find at last that the fibre could be separated by rotting the plants in water. It all depends, however, upon knowing how to supply the water. Investigators had all along made the mistake of assuming that nettles must be rotted like flax; that is, they must be thrown into water and left there till the plants were sufficiently rotted to permit the separation of fibre and wood. But this method failed completely with nettles, for the rotting process attacked the fibre as well and destroyed it. Richter found out the reason. Nettles contain much fruit sugar, which is all steeped out during the first half-day that the plants lie in water; and then a fermentation process sets in. This fermentation is due to the development of bacteria that feed upon the sugar and then destroy the value of the fibre. After Richter established those facts he had only to draw off the water after soaking the nettles for twelve hours, and then turn on fresh water. Now another class of bacteria, which do not attack the fibre is developed, and rotting proceeds as normally as with flax.

The machinery for separating fibre and stalk is the same as for weaving machines are used in making nettle cloth, with probably a few minor changes. The cloth is already being actually made in Austria. About 1,000 tons of the fibre was produced there last year under the auspices of the government, which turned it over to various factories to be worked up. It is claimed that the fibres are from two to twelve inches long. After having been washed in a soap solution they are very soft and produce a cloth having a fine lustre. The yarn is pronounced considerably stronger than flax yarn, hence nettle cloth should prove remarkably durable.

While the supply of wild nettles in Germany and Austria is practically inexhaustible, it is assumed that it will be necessary to cultivate the plant in order to get the best results. In that case practically the only expense will be to plant the fields once with roots of the wild nettle and harvest the crops during the next ten years, no further planting being necessary. A German writer estimates that under the least favorable circumstances nettle fibre can be laid to at the factory at 14 cents a pound, which is hardly more than the average price of cotton in Germany before the war. But his calculation ignores the value of the root-sugar and the refuse. As Richter found that the sugar contained in the bark of the plant runs as high as 8 per cent, he concludes that it is one of the most valuable sugar plants known in Europe. Also he found that cattle prefer the stems to most other kinds of feed; and the leaves are also eaten by them with relish. In view of these facts it would seem that the practical cost of the spinning fibre might be considerably reduced below the figure mentioned.

Richter assumes that his discovery will yield equally satisfactory results with rams, which has hitherto baffled all efforts to find a cheap and workable method for separating the fibre; but he has not yet demonstrated this by actual experiment. As ramie is known to be about the best fibre plant in existence it will at once spring into the foremost rank as a commercial fibre producer, if Richter's expectations should be realized. Between nettles and ramie, therefore, there is danger that strong competition. There is all so far that Australia will American cotton may meet with ready considerable optimism in Austria and Germany about nettles. The Austrian and Hungarian governments have taken steps to have nettle fields planted. The city authorities of Muenchen-Gladbach one of the chief centers of the German cotton industry, have had a considerable area planted in nettles, and Dusseldorf has also set aside land for that purpose.

Berlin, May.—The "far-reaching significance" of the spring operations on the Western front, nas, from a German point of view, been the fact that while the Entente Allies had planned a general onset this spring, the German armies anticipated them and threw their plans "topsy-turvy," according to a general military survey which is published in the German press and which has evidently emanated from official quarters.

"Our enemies had been preparing for this general onset with all the resources at their disposal," says the German summary, "and they have never ceased telling us their resources were inexhaustible. Feeling certain of victory in advance, they had harnessed their initiative and every body else. The German armies, however, anticipated them and threw their well matured plan topsy-turvy."

"Their operations as seen from the German side, consisted partly of offensive and partly of defensive battles, yet they are all characterized by the one uniform feature—namely, that a German spring offensive has come instead of the offensive planned by the enemy."

"The attacks of the Russians and the Italians at the same time are only in tactical sense offensive. They are really defensive operations on the largest scale. That finds expression in the very term 'relieving offensive,' which has the merit of being ornamental and pretty, but also clearly intelligible. A 'relieving offensive' is an offensive act with a defensive purpose.

"What this means in its effects upon the morale of the troops can be fully comprehended only by a man who has himself taken part in this fighting. The words 'We are advancing' exercise a magical charm upon the German troops; they throw a spell over every branch of the gigantic organism of our army. 'We are going to attack'—and every man feels proud and happy to do his share, even tho his own section be assigned to mere defensive duty. The Germans fighting on the East front, conscious of the fact that we are dictating the character of the fighting, are just as much inspired by the offensive spirit in heroically resisting the onsets of the Russians en masse as their comrades. Precisely the troops fighting in Russia, who enjoyed the good fortune last summer of pressing forward incessantly and wresting enormous stretches of territory from the Russian colossus, are now looking on without envy at the attacks of their comrades in the west, after these had for so long been condemned to the self-sacrificing task of trench warfare."

The survey takes up in detail the various operations on the Western front, but covers the operations only up to April 1 and gives but little further information than has been contained in the official communications and other despatches.

Referring in a general way to the battles of the Meuse, it declares that the most important result was that French troops were relieved by the English from Armentieres to Arras, and in the last third of March still further southward to the Somme. "But," the report adds, "the substituted troops have not developed any considerable activity. Neither have the English made the slightest attempt to relieve the strain upon their hard-pressed ally by making an attack upon their own account."

The other allies of the French—the Russians and Italians—made more earnest efforts to support their ally says the survey, and it sums up what these operations were as follows:

"Before the German east front there were observed since March 19 troops in motion which announced the beginning of heavy attacks at several points. Heavy artillery fire began March 12 upon a large section of our defenses and reached in places the proportion of drum-fire. It could be seen that the enemy had by night cut passages through his wire entanglements, and that during the artillery firing reserves were being placed in position ready to advance to the front. On March 18 the attacks began. The enemy had selected seven points at which to try to make a breach in our lines. His offensive began in the section south of Dvinsk. The region between the Narotch and Wisznief lakes, then a strip to the north of Vidsy were attacked daily by the Russians with great vim from March 18 to 22. At only one point, the outpost at Stachovce to the south of the Narotch lake, was it found necessary to make unimportant retirement on our front, but the new position was then held without wavering. At all other points one Russian attack after the other broke down with frightful losses on their side. The like bloody losses and failure to score results attended the enemy's advanced near Dvinsk and at several other points between Dvinsk and Riga."

After the complete failure of the attacks of March 18 to 22 the enemy brought up fresh troops, and after another long artillery preparation a new series of attacks began on the 24th and 25th at all the points that had been previously threatened. They were all bloodily repulsed during the following three days; and in the nights of the 26th and 27th we were even able to make counter attacks and to dislodge the enemy from portions of his original positions south of Vidsy and to the south of Lake Narotch, from which he was harassing us. Since that time the Russian offensive has been suspended—owing to the thawing weather, as the Russians rather lamely explained. In reality the great operations of the eastern ally to relieve the pressure upon the French ended in a complete failure and with unparalleled losses."

"The situation on the other fronts can be summarized as follows: 'The attacks of the Italians again failed, broken by the stout courage of our ally; and here the 'relieving offensive' was transformed into a defensive in which the enemy had considerable losses in men and terrain. At Saloniki 200,000 Entente troops are held fast, without hitherto having been able to advance against their besiegers. Avlona is closely invested. On the Caucasus front, finally, the Russian advance at first, successful, was checked. In view of all these facts the military situation at the end of March can be characterized as highly gratifying. We dictate the strategy of the hour. The grand offensive plans of our enemies have fallen into hopeless confusion. France's reserves are probably for the most part held fast on the Meuse, and in part already worn out."

Paris, Correspondence of the Associated Press—"The United States need not fear being used by France as a dumping ground for products to be sold at a sacrifice after the war," is the opinion of Monsieur David-Mennet, President of the Chamber of Commerce of Paris and an important man in the French cotton industry.

"French goods," Monsieur David-Mennet observes, "are generally so well made that they must be sold dear. If you have seen French mechanics or artisans at work you have noticed that it is natural to them to give to their product the precision and tasty finish that characterize our productions as it is for them to go thru any of the details of daily life that have become second nature to them. You may have noticed that even the clerks in shops take infinite pains in doing up the most trifling packages, they may have tried your patience, but to them it is only natural to hold on to the package until it responds to a critical idea of what is presentable. It is the same with all workmen in France; articles don't leave their hands until they can take pride in them. When we find it necessary to make things cheaply, we are obliged to import the labor to do it. Such products were never specialized in any branch and what we made with imported labor was never, so far as I know, exported at a loss before the war. I have no reason to believe that it will be done after the war; we shall no doubt have exhausted our stocks and have to begin practically anew in such branches of manufacture."

"For the moment the great manufacturing district of the north is eliminated; every machine that was worth moving has disappeared from the factories and must be replaced after peace is declared. The new installations will require considerable time and in the meantime the industries of the interior will no more than suffice for home needs."

"France will also be exposed to dumping since our customs tariff is specific instead of ad valorem. It will require a new law as with you to raise a barrier against it. For us it will not be so important perhaps, because other measures will prevent commercial encroachments after the war by our adversaries. For America, no doubt, the proposed protective legislation is excellent, and it will not be material to France because, as I have already said, France has no trash to dump anywhere. I will qualify that statement to this extent—in our special industries such as hats and other articles of fashion, styles often change suddenly and stocks of goods out of style remain on hand. These are often sold at reduced prices, but I doubt if they are ever offered at less than the cost of manufacture."

"A certain misapprehension has prevailed as to how the Germans were able to compete with home products in foreign countries. It was not because they could produce cheaper. A number of the German specialties are nearly twice as dear to make in Germany as in England, yet they exported them and competed in prices. This was possible because the profit on goods sold at home was sufficient to enable the sacrifice of surplus production abroad. This custom of German manufacturers followed for years before the war may properly be called an established continual system of 'dumping'; after the war, if they have products to throw upon foreign markets, it will be no change whatever in their system. I do not think, however, that they will have such an accumulation of products of this class as is apprehended. Their industries are largely centered on the manufacture of munitions of war. As for the others, they obtain raw materials with difficulty and must now find considerable difficulty in keeping their forces of workmen up to the point where their production can more than satisfy the home demand."

"The Germans have always had the advantage of a superior intelligence department operating in every country in the world thru its emigrated workmen and office employees."

"Wages will probably be higher after the war," M. David-Mennet thinks, "and there will be a consequent increase in the cost of manufactured goods, but I don't think the advance will apply to raw materials for the reason that fixed charges and general expenses apply to them in so much slighter measure than to manufactured goods."

The cotton industry, in which M. David-Mennet is particularly interested he says has recovered very well from the effect of the first conditions of the war, excepting in the case of the few spinning mills established in the invaded regions. Commerce in luxuries has also made great gains, he says, but not so much as commerce in products of current consumption which in spite of the war, partly because of it is about normal."

Indianapolis, Ind., May 4.—That changed ideals and a new social fabric will be born of the perils of the present war, in America as well as in the fighting countries, will be the argument of Percy Alden, M. P., of London, at Indianapolis, the evening of May 16, before the National Conference of Charities and Correction. Mr. Alden is honorary secretary of the council for the study of international relations of which Lord Bryce is president. He is the founder of Mansfield House settlement in East London. He is known for his writings on various social problems and for his authorship of important social measures passed by parliament.

Lawson Purdy, tax commissioner of the City of New York and president of the national municipal league, will speak the same evening on sources of support for social programs. The chairman of the meeting will be Graham Romeyn Taylor, of the Survey, author of a recent book on Satellite Cities. The purpose of the session is to get at the essentials of social policy in this country.

This is one of the nine divisions of the conference. Among other subjects will be labor and the alcohol question, farm colonies for petty criminals, the social value of the Gary school plan, state schemes for care of the feeble-minded, and health insurance. The conference will begin on the evening of May 10 with an address by the president, Father Francis H. Gavisk of Indianapolis.

The billiard room of Joseph Estaque is being painted and fixed up generally. George Rodriguez is the contractor in charge.

STOCK MARKET RESPONDS TO FURTHER VIGOROUS DEMAND

Numerous Investment Shares Rise One to Three Points While Specialties Advance Three to Eight Points

New York, May 15.—The stock market responded to a further broad and vigorous demand today, numerous investment shares rising 1 to 3 points, while specialties of various descriptions advanced 3 to 8 points. Wall street seemed under the spell of optimism engendered in part by last Saturday's impressive demonstration favoring home defense and there were those who professed to draw from that occasion inference of deep political significance. For its leaders the market had such old time favorites as United States Steel and Reading, the former scoring an extreme gain of 2% on its advance to 58%; with an overturn of about 125,000 shares, while Reading ascended to the new high record of 92% on its extreme rise of 13%.

War stocks emerged from their recent inactivity, Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel and New York Airbrake representing that group at advances of 1 to 3 points. United States Industrial Alcohol was foremost of the miscellaneous issues, its total gain of 7% being attended by a revival of the old rumor of a "melon cutting."

Inquiry for rails embraced issues of high and low degree, the coalers being especially active, with gains of 1 to 3 points for Canadian Pacific, Illinois Central, Chicago and Northwestern, St. Paul and Baltimore and Ohio. Total sales of stocks amounted to $30,000 shares.

Bonds were firm, but dealings were featureless aside from the heavy trading in Anglo-French 5s. Total sales of bonds par value were $3,760,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

GOOD TERMS*L. S. DOANE*COMMUNICATIONEditor Journal:—
I cannot help feeling that if the bond issue were to stand or fall by the arguments of its advocates, that we taxpayers, who in the end will have to bear the burden of this mortgage, need give ourselves no uneasiness over its passage.It has been stated that the water works cannot use its annual revenue of over $36,000 for its own improvement, because "the city has no other revenue than the water rents and tax income, that the money from the water department must be diverted to meet other expenses instead of being used for the development of the water department." I am glad that this question has been raised.
There is some question of the legitimacy of using the receipts of the water system for general fund or other purposes. This might be all right if our water works did not need the money but when they do, there are grave doubts of either the legality or the advisability of taking their revenue for other purposes. If previous administrations and the present one had handled or were handling this water income for the good of the water system, there would be no necessity to float a bond issue of $100,000 to secure $36,000 for the improvement of the water system. Will the editor please advise what other revenue a city should have for its running expenses than that derived from taxes?
If we were now cutting our clothes to fit the cloth we would be doing what every prudent man does, and that is live within our income.As a matter of fact the water system is self supporting. It could, if properly managed, keep up its own improvements. Why is it necessary to pledge the property of the taxpayers of this city for this purpose?The advertisements of the council, for which someone is paying, state that this bond issue will allow the city to quickly pay off a floating indebtedness of $42,000, a deficit of $22,- 000 and buy fire equipment to cost over $10,000. This is a total of $74,- 000. As the tax income of the city is $52,000, the water income $36,000 and as we have been spending annually more than that, it is hard to understand how the thing can be paid "quickly".Over $22,000 was spent rebuilding our light plant. Our streets are lighted and our pumps running. Is it reasonable that it is necessary to now put in $53,000 more, or three times what was spent only a few years ago?
If a small amount of additional current is needed over what we make, why can't it be bought from the light company? I am told that their wires could be run into the city plant in thirty minutes and that the small amount of additional current, even at a good rate, would not cost as much as this bond issue every year.If this were done and our water system improved by borrowing on itCLEANSE THE BLOOD was proven to them that the cause of their trouble was the blood; that Uric Acid, the most faithful ally of Rheumatism, had gripped them. The poison in the blood had sapied its strength.

The weakened blood had allowed poison and impurities to accumulate, and all energy was gone. They felt "poorly," were listless, pain was their present, with poor digestion and dyspepsia.
They tried S. S. S.—nature's blood tonic.
They gave up drugs. This compound of nature's remedies of roots and herbs did what drugs failed to do. It literally washed the blood free from poison, and with the flow of pure blood came back health, strength, vigor and happi-

DRIED FOODS IN CHINA.An Art In Which the Natives Were Experts Before Our Era."In so far as good cooking consists in making the cheap as attractive and delectable as the most expensive, the culinary art in China is far in advance of that of all other nations," writes Wong Chin Foo, a Chinese writer, in the Hotel Gazette."In a land so densely populated the cook becomes at an early age an important member of the social economy.
Not only the preparation of food for immediate but also for future use is his function. Long before Christ they learned to preserve fruits and vegetables by desiccation, compression, pickling, smoking, souping and candying.
They extended and applied these processes to animal tissue. Centuries ago they did what Americans cannot do today—dry clams, oysters and other shellfish until they are as hard as wood and would keep exposed to the air in any climate for years. They similarly desiccate shrimps, crabs, lobsters, fatfish, sturgeon and the like so thoroughly that they can use the un-boxed goods, if necessary, for ballasting a trading vessel without injuring their quality or flavor."A good Chinese cook must confine his expenditures to the limit laid down by his employer—a practice in strong contrast to the loose methods in this country. He can calculate the cost of a meal to within a few cents. He can make an inferior cut of fresh pork resemble the best piece of perfumed pork, so highly prized by his employer or make a mock bird's nest soup scarcely distinguishable from the real.
When the spring market falls in price
he will buy a quantity of perishable goods and preserve them to last until the autumn."OLD TIME COURT OPENING."Boys, Come In," Was the Call When the Judge Was Ready."Oyez! Oyez! Oyez! Know ye all that the honorable circuit court of Peoria county now stands convened pursuant to adjournment."This is the impressive ceremony used and the words spoken aloud when circuit court judges step to the bench. In federal courts all spectators and attaches are required to arise and remain standing until the court has been seated.In the days of 1818 to 1830 things were different, as early historical records show, observes the Peoria Tribune. Records of those days show one incident in which Judge John Reynolds was seated on the circuit bench in Washington county when the following was the procedure:"Boys, come in. Our John is going to hold court," the sheriff said to the spectators, jurors and attorneys who had gathered on the grass in the courthouse yard.The courts in those days were held mostly in log houses or in barrooms of village taverns fitted up for the purpose, with a temporary bench for the court and benches and chairs for the jurors, lawyers and spectators. In general, the judges were adverse to rendering decisions on points of law and preferred to submit all questions to the jurors for a decision.One instance is cited when attorneys requested the court to instruct the jurors on questions of law. The judge, after rubbing his head and face with his hands and reflecting a few moments, said to the lawyers:"Why, gentlemen, the jury understand it; they need no instructions;
no doubt they will do justice in this case."Get Up Right.Get up right in the morning. Go to you will add to the brightness. Give a word of cheer, a kindly greeting and a warm handshake to your friends.If your enemies look up pass them by, forget and try to forgive.If all of us would bear in mind that happiness is from within and not from without there would be a wellspring of joy in every heart, and the sun would

A real Guarantee

To be more than a mere "scrap of paper," a guarantee must be absolute—and backed by a concern able and willing to make it good.

The General's guarantee is not only absolute; it is backed by a business operating the world's largest roofing mills, and making one-third of all the roll roofing made in America. That's the guarantee behind

Certain-teed Roofing

The guarantee is for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). There is no evasion about it—no attempt to substitute a high-sounding something "just as good." There is no substitute for a real guarantee. You get an absolute guarantee on CERTAIN-TEED because the General knows that no better roofing can be made. Its raw materials and method of manufacture are both certified by the General's board of graduate chemists, and he knows he's taking no chance in guaranteeing them to you. That's what "CERTAIN-TEED" means—certified and guaranteed. Experience has proven that the guarantee is conservative, and that CERTAIN-TEED will outlast the period of guarantee.

The roofing felt, as it comes bone dry from the rollers, is given a thorough saturation of a special blend of soft asphalt, the formula of the General's board of expert chemists. It is then given a harder coating of another blend of asphalt. This keeps the inner saturation soft, and prevents the drying-out process so destructive to ordinary roofing. Roofing is impervious to the elements only so long as the asphalt saturation lasts. CERTAIN-TEED retains its soft saturation, and is in good condition for years after the harder, drier kinds have become useless.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate-covered shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out-building.

CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers all over the world, at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type of roof.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS.

Chicago—Despite the prospect of being obliged to sleep on steamers along the water-front, the suffragists from all sections of the country are sending word that they will be represented at the demonstration during the Republican National Convention in June. The politicians have reserved all of the available hotel rooms of the city. It is a time of big events, and whole floors of the big hotels have been turned over to the various factions as headquarters during the convention. Forty thousand women will take part in the big parade. Mrs. George Bass, who has the unenviable task of caring for them, says that if necessary she will charter steamers to provide for her guests.

Freehold, N. J.—Mrs. William S. Holmes, daughter of the late William M. Evans, who was candidate for Mayor of New York, has accepted the office of official dog catcher for the town. She will serve without pay. She explains that she has taken care of many homeless dogs, and took the official position to avoid any complications. Mrs. Joseph S. Yard and Mrs. William Van Dorn, representing the Women's Club, are members of the Shade Tree Committee, recently organized to beautify the town.

Washington, D. C.—The second encampment of women leaders in social life who want camp training to fit them for real national service, will be opened at Chevy Chase tomorrow. The first camp was a rousing success, according to the young ladies who took the instruction. The young women in khaki have added a new feature to Washington life, and the strenuous routine in the open air has brought the bloom to their cheeks and strength to their muscles.

Minot, N. D.—The first stenographer-farmer in this section of the Northwest is Miss Olga Tennesen of Minneapolis, who filed on the fifth best claim of the 700 thrown open to settlement by Uncle Sam in the Fort Berthold reservation in North Dakota. Miss Tennesen picked one of the quarter sections lying beside the site of the new town on the reservation, and says that while living on her farm she will do the stenographic work of the community.

Columbia, Mo.—The annual track and field meet of the Girl Junior Colleges of Missouri is being held here today. Christian and Stephens College of this city, Howard-Payne College of Fayette and William Woods College of Fulton are taking part. The two Columbia colleges are hosts to the visiting girl athletes. Besides the running events, they are putting the shot, throwing the discus, throwing a baseball and rifle shooting.

Chicago—Women of Forest Park are today presenting a library to the village. They have collected 2,000 books as a nucleus, and the ceremony of opening a library in the municipal building takes place today. It was only a month or so ago that a dozen women took up the task Mrs. A. E. Winterroth is president of the library society.

Washington, D. C.—Each wearing a hat and gown of her own designing and making, sixty girls will be graduated from the National School of Domestic Arts and Science on Wednesday. The girls were received by President and Mrs. Wilson at the White House, and they wore these gowns of their own making. The fair graduates come from many states.

St. Louis—Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, who recently attended the convention of the Drama League in this city, gave an interesting interview while here. "We believe in the broader and higher education of women and increasing activity in civic and municipal affairs," she said. "We appreciate the new opportunities that have come to women, and believe we, as well as men, should assume added responsibilities along charitable, philanthropic and educational lines. We do not believe woman's activities should be limited to the four walls of a home. We believe in giving public office to the best person regardless of sex. But looking back over the years, I find that everything the women were asking for has been obtained without the aid of the franchise."

Fred Burnett of Waverly was a business visitor in the city Monday.

GOT A FREE BATH

He Didn't Really Need It, but That Made No Difference.

JUST SIMPLY HAD TO TAKE IT.

A Visit to a Hospital That Resulted In a Surprise to the Caller and Forced a Conscientious Orderly to Do His Duty, as He Saw It.

A very much subdued officer from one of the Italian ships in the port left a Brooklyn hospital the other day after an experience like that of the man who was forced to take mustard with his boiled beef. The officer had been coerced into taking a bath in the hospital, albeit he did not need one any more than his vessel had need of a whiffletree—merely a blunder on the part of an officious but conscientious orderly. The hardy mariner could speak very little English, and that was partly the cause of the trouble.

The hospital in question has dealings with the merchant marine, and many sailors who come into port sick are sent to the institution for medical treatment. It chanced that one of the men from this vessel had been taken to the hospital and had a private room on one of the upper floors. The victim of the bath called to see him and made application in his halting English at the office of the institution. He was able to explain sufficiently that he had called to have a talk with his shipmate, and the superintendent gave him a slip to hand to the nurse, with directions to go to the floor where his comrade was temporarily interned. He went up in the elevator without mishap and encountered a dainty little nurse, to whom in his crude English he explained matters.

She motioned to him to take a seat on a bench that stood along the wall in the hall, and he just understood enough of her talk to know that he would have to wait. He was there about five minutes when the orderly came along.

Now, the bench occupied by the sailor was a bench for new patients. A new patient must submit to a bath unless there are orders to the contrary, and, although this particular ship's officer was as tidy and clean as could be, there were no contrary orders in his case. The orderly naturally supposed that the man on the bench was waiting for his tub and proceeded to get it ready for him. The hospital employee filled the bathtub and led the guest into the room. The water was hot.

"Now take your bath," said the orderly.

The sailor didn't want a bath and shook his head in a vigorous negative. "See here, my good man," proceeded his volunteer valet, "you'll have to take it, and that's all there is about it. It is a rule of the hospital, and you can't stay here unless you jump into that tub."

With a delicacy that is not often met with in men orderlies in city hospitals, this particular official supposed that the new patient might be a bit modest about his tubbing and left him in the bathroom. But he took the precaution to lock him up.

Immediately after the orderly went a bundle of towels and soap came flying out over the transom. The hospital man threw them back again. The man inside just as promptly returned them flying back. A third time the towels and soap were thrown out, and this made the orderly angry. He went in and had it out with the recalcitrant.

"You've just got to take that bath, my man, and that is all there is about it. If you don't I'll bathe you myself." The man evidently understood that there was no escape and, probably supposing that it was a custom of the hospital to bathe all visitors, proceeded to disrobe and dutifully jumped in. The orderly was satisfied and went about his other duties.

The man's visit to the hospital had been a long one, and the superintendent called up on the house telephone to find out what had become of him. The trim little nurse was asked to explain. She did not know where he had gone.

"I left him sitting on the bench here," she said, "and when I looked for him again he had disappeared."

Nobody had seen him go out. The elevator man was questioned, and he could not tell what had become of him. The mystery deepened until the orderly was found.

"Are you looking for the man on the bench?" he asked. "He's having a bath. He would not take it at first, and I just locked him in."

The involuntary bather was released, and many apologies were offered to him. He was permitted to visit his friend, and, sick as the patient was, he had a hearty laugh over his friend's odd experience. And the sailor in his very best English, which the trim little nurse wifidly declared to be "lingo," said that after he had his bath he felt better and added that he forgave everybody, even the orderly.—Brooklyn Eagle.

"Asia Minor" a Puzzle.

"Asia Minor" is a geographical term of vague extension. It would puzzle any one to say exactly where it leaves off. The name dates only from the fifth century (A. D.), when Orosius used it evidently as a novelty. The Roman empire knew no Asia Minor. Indeed, the Roman province of "Asia" was actually smaller than this lesser Asia. The alternative name Anatolia (land of the sunrise or east), which has found favor with the Turks, is equally indeterminate.—London Spectator.

Home Baking Reduces Cost of Living

THE U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in Experiment Station Bulletin No. 142 says that ten cents worth of wheat supplies almost three times as much protein and ten times as much energy as round steak, and with some other cuts of meat the difference is even greater.

If then, one really desires to reduce her weekly meat and grocery bills, she need only make more use of her oven.

Who ever heard man, woman or child complain that good home-made biscuits, muffins, cake and cookies appeared on the table too often? Instead the tendency is "to make a meal of them" and the variety is so great that something you bake yourself could well be the chief feature of every meal.

Home Baking is Simplified by the Use of K C Baking Powder

With K C you can make things moist and rich yet have them light and feathery, wholesome and digestible. Biscuits may be mixed the night before and baked fresh for breakfast. Muffins need not be dry and heavy. You can make a cake so light that you can hardly get it out of the pan whole, yet it will not fall.

K C is not like the old fashioned baking powder. It is double acting and continues to give off leavening gas until the dough is cooked through. K C is sold at a fair price—a large can for 25 cents. This would be no object if strength and purity were sacrificed, but every can is fully guaranteed under State and National Pure Food laws and to please. We take all the chances. Your money back if you do not get better results with K C than any baking powder you ever used.

Include a can in your next grocery order, try some of the new recipes that appear in this paper from time to time. Then you will have gone far toward solving this vexing "Cost of Living" problem.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.
Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.
They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)
"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requirements, no waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face.
"Fast to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing after-effects has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though, of course, it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'santalene' tablets—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Santalene tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

The Constipation Curse

Constipation—clogged bowels cause pain and sickness; 95 per cent of our ills, say the authorities. Santalene Laxatives bring quick relief. All vegetable—contain no calomel. Ten doses for a time at any druggist. Physician's sample free, upon request, if you mention this advertisement. The Santalene Remedies Co., Inc., 800 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR THE HIGH SCHOOL MEET

W. L. H. S. L. EVENTS FRIDAY ON ILLINOIS FIELD.

Many Able Athletes Included in Entries From Ten Schools of League—Declamation Contest in the Forenoon and Senior Play Friday Night.

The eighteenth annual track and field meet of the Western Illinois High school league will be held at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon on Illinois college field. With the coming of clear weather the track promises to be in first class condition. Indications are that large delegations will come from the ten high schools represented and that the meet will be among the most successful of recent years. Jacksonville won the meet last year by a good margin and the number of the other schools have excellent material. In view of the local school's performance in the meet at Griggsville and in the Illinois college invitation meet, friends of J. H. S. feel confident of the high standing of Coach Huber's men in the final wind-up.

W. T. Harmon, athletic director at Illinois college, will act as starter and referee, and Ernest Alford, a senior in the college, will be clerk of course. The remaining officials will probably be announced today by Coach Harmon.

Contest in Declamation.

ENGAGED IN FIGHT AT WABASH STATION

Oscar Meline and his uncle Dan Meline engaged in a fight near the Wabash passenger station Monday morning. Dan Meline came out of the battle the worse for wear. The men were arrested by Officer Vieira and taken to the police station where they were each fined $3 and costs.

So far as can be learned there has been ill feeling between the men for some time over a suit in an estate which has been in court for some time. According to Chief Davis both men were at the Wabash passenger station Monday morning to meet some witnesses who were coming on the Wabash train due here at 7:15. They engaged in an altercation. It is said that Oscar Meline suggested that they get in his (Oscar's) buggy and go out to some field where they could settle the matter without interference. The men according to witnesses got in the buggy when it is said that Oscar Meline struck the horse with the whip and dropped the lines and the men started to fight in the buggy. Dan Meline was badly bruised in the scuffle.

BOND ELECTION TILT IN COUNCIL

MR. VASCONCELLOS' REPORT BROUGHT QUESTION INTO DISCUSSION.

Mr. Miser Ready With Oral but Not Written Proposition—Old Power Bills Under Discussion—Plans for Decoration Day.

About the only enlivening incident of the city council session Monday morning was the little tilt between members of the council and W. B. Miser, superintendent of the Jacksonville Railway & Light company. Mr. Miser said that he would be glad to make a proposition to the council for furnishing current but that he had never been given an opportunity. Mayor Rodgers replied that the council would be glad to consider a proposition at any time in writing. For some reason or other this didn't seem satisfactory to Mr. Miser. This discussion and other along the same line, resulted from a statement made by Commissioner Vasconcellos in reporting for his department wherein he referred to charges made by the Railway Company for current used at the north side pumping station. He presented various receipts and said he could not tell from the bills what the rate charged was and he also wished to know why, in addition to other charges, each one of the bills contained an item for $191.25. This was explained by Mr. Miser as a monthly service charge, just as a certain charge is made every month for a gas meter whether gas is used or not. Mr. Vasconcellos' point was that if the Railway Company proposed to sell current at any given price, that there would probably be a service charge and that this monthly service charge would come if no current was used.

Department Reports.

When the council was called to order and the usual formalities, reports from departments were called for. Mayor Rodgers said he had nothing special from his department other than to refer to the election to be held Tuesday, when it would be up to the people to decide whether they wanted the city to make progress. Mr. Widmayer said that all out of town bills had been paid and warrants would be ready for all other bills some time this week. Mr. Martin reported that on account of complaints coming in from school buildings that he had ordered signs which will be placed in the street near these buildings, cautioning automobile drivers to slow down. Recently there have been a number of narrow escapes for children on account of cars driving rapidly at the time that children are going to, or leaving, the school building. It is hoped that the safety signs will help remedy this difficulty.

Mr. Cox reported some considerable trouble with the South Sandy street sewer and that his department employees have been working there for a number of days. Mayor Rodgers said that the work of completing the South Main street pavement from Morton to Michigan avenue is progressing and that the repair work necessary because some of the pavement was laid when the weather was too cold, was moving along satisfactorily. Mr. Widmayer reported that he had examined the pavement and noted the process and believed that tarvia made an excellent paving material.

More Power Needed.

Mr. Vasconcellos said he had some little statement to make and said that in his report made the first of the year he gave the cost of oil, coal, waste, etc., from the records and estimated kilowatts produced. Whether or not this estimate was correct had little to do with the case, since the figures for cost were actual and he knew that the power supplied was all that was used for pumping and lighting. He declared that more power was needed for the light and water plant because the city is now at the mercy of the Hamilton engine which is the only engine of sufficient power to operate the larger pump at the north side station, and when anything is out of order about this pump it is necessary to start the south side station and thus muddy water is pumped into the clear supply from the north side station. He explained that a change in mains was necessary as called for in the proposed improvements, in order to avoid the friction. The commissioner referred to his article which appeared in the Journal Saturday morning and said that in this article he had referred to horse power instead of kilowatts because he thought that would make the matter clearer. He took exception to the statement from the railway company appearing in the Courier Saturday with the inference that Commissioner Vasconcellos was not knowing his statements to the truth. He said that he had never heard of any proposition made by the company to the council—that the only proposition he knew of was one made to the Courier and not to the city council.

Mr. Vasconcellos then referred to some old gas company bills paid in 1911 and asked Mr. Miser how the charges were figured. Mr. Miser thought that the rate was 2c per kilowatt hour, according to an agreement at that time in force, and said that it was not fair to figure for any one month but to add up the whole number of months and divide the amount of charges by the number of kilowatts and that would show the charge per kilowatt. After the first pumping bills Mr. Miser said the rate was 1½ cts.

Mr. Vasconcellos referred to certain bills which show each month a charge for electricity of $191.25 per month whether any electricity was used at the wells or not. Mr. Miser explained this was a service charge just like a meter charge. Mr. Vasconcellos thought that if the company made a proposition now that likely there would be a big service charge, possibly two, one for water and one for light.

Mr. Miser said that if the council would consider a proposition for current that he would be glad to make it. Then came the Mayor's response that the council was ready for any written proposition. With this Mr. Miser sat down, but from his chair reiterated the charge he had previously made in print that whenever he talked to Mayor Rodgers about a proposition that the mayor told him if he wanted to make one in writing that it would be considered, but that there would not be any use in making it. Mr. Vasconcellos said that if Mr. Miser wanted to know what he thought about the gas company proposition that he would tell him, and that was that he would be afraid to consider a proposition from them if they would offer to furnish the power for nothing. Mr. Miser's rejoinder was that that was about the situation that he thought prevailed with the whole council. There was some other little exchange of words along the same line and all simply laying emphasis to the statement that the city officers have made that all Mr. Miser's efforts at a proposition have been verbal and, therefore, not of a kind to be seriously considered, and his charge that he had always been given to understand that there was no use in making a proposition anyhow.

R. R. Stevenson, C. E. McDougall and W. H. Jordan were present as a committee from the G. A. R., and asked the members of the council to take part in the Decoration day observance. On motion of Mr. Martin with a second by Mr. Cox, the veterans were informed that the council would be willing to make the same arrangements they did last year and to see that a sufficient sum was raised to secure music and otherwise properly prepare for the day. Mr. Vasconcellos submitted some samples of gravel taken from well No. 5 and with some other informal discussion the council adjourned.

COMMUNICATION.

Rochester, N. Y., May 13, 1916.
Editor Jacksonville Journal,
Jacksonville, Ill.

Dear Sir—

After the war what? Mostly likely a defensive alliance for all the European states will be the outcome of this last great war among them. A certain section of these warring nations, who trusted in the power of might to conquer and rule all the world, as well as the remaining ones who believed only less in the power of arms and armaments, will thus be led to see that the brotherhood of man is the basic principle of all permanent peace.

Awful as the present experience of Europe is, it has probably hastened by hundreds of years the universal acknowledgement and adoption of the principle that right, not might, is the best law for the welfare of nations. Then why prolong (one and a half years' carnage has been decisive of nothing) an unnecessary and useless conflict, that can only result in the exhaustion of these self-same powers and the century-long misery of the great masses of all these peoples? If a new Hague conference were to sit continuously until the peoples of these countries compelled their rulers to submit their differences to its decisions, peace might come sooner than anyone would imagine. What greater role could America have than to be the first to take this decisive step and work for it incessantly until its fulfillment came?

Yours very truly,
F. L. Fishbaugh.

CROP PROSPECTS FINE.

John C. Andras of Manchester, was a visitor in Jacksonville Monday and was talking about what a favorable farming season this has been. According to Mr. Andras the prospects for crops planted in the spring were never better. There have been frequent rains recently but there has not been too much rain and the showers have come down in such a way that there has been no washing and the surface of the ground has not been beaten down. In fact, the rains have been of such a kind that the earth has been kept in fine condition for plowing and general cultivation. Mr. Andras has a field of alfalfa which has been referred to before in the Journal, which was partially killed with ice the past winter and Mr. Andras tried the plan of discing and reseeded. He used quite a liberal amount of bone meal as fertilizer and a generous supply of limestone and phosphate had already been applied to the field. The result has been very satisfactory and the young alfalfa which came up from the seed is four or five inches high.

SALVATION ARMY FUND IS STILL UNDER DISCUSSION

Mayor Rodgers and Committee insist on Supervising Expenditures in a General Way Because They Solicited the Funds and Feel Responsible to the Contributors.

The discussion with reference to the found raised for the Salvation Army has evidently been sprung at the present time with special purpose of injuring H. J. Rodgers and incidentally having some effect upon the bond issue today. If there is any member of the committee which had charge of the funds who takes Capt. Mace's stand in the controversy and believes that all the funds raised should be turned over to him to handle in any way he sees fit, such member of the committee has not made his name public.

The facts are, from an unprejudiced view, that Capt. Mace asked Mayor committee made it clear that his view a fund for needed improvements. Mr. Rodgers consented to do so and the committee was organized for the work. This committee made personal solicitation for the funds and $1,825 was secured in pledges and of this sum about $400 was paid in and is in the hands of W. G. Goebel, treasurer of the committee. The members of the committee at their meetings told Capt. Mace that they felt it their duty to supervise the expenditures since they had given the assurance to contributors that the fund would be spent for the purpose intended.

Mayor Rodgers as chairman of the F. Dinsmore and William Spencer, was that the captain should prepare plans and get estimates as to the cost of the work and then that the general committee would approve the same or the matter would be referred to a sub-committee.

This is all there is to the whole question: shall the committee, after soliciting and securing subscriptions, supervise in a general way the expenditures, or shall the money be turned over to Capt. Mace to spend as he happens to see fit? There is nothing in the whole affair to cast reflection upon Mr. Rodgers or upon any member of the committee.

It seems very fortunate, indeed, that the matter should be discussed at all, for the only real effect will be to injure the work of the Salvation Army, an organization which is worthy of the support and interest of all the people.

A FEARLESS PHYSICIAN.
Such a physician recently remarked—"The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over diseases of women is not because it is a stimulant, not because it is a palliative, but simply because it contains the very elements needed to tone up the female system and strengthen the depleted organism." Of course that is so, otherwise it could not succeed as it has.—Adv.
